To Miss Lucile Bruhns, whose interest in us has been so necessary in our last days of High School, we, with deepest gratitude, dedicate this volume.

FOREWORD

We have chosen "The Shield" as our contribution to the welfare of Brighton High. We hope it will make you remember us as the first class to publish an annual, and we hope our example will be followed by other classes. It is our sincere purpose to record the events of 1929 and 1930 for the graduates and students of Brighton High School.

BRIGHTON HIGH SCHOOL

THE HISTORY OF BRIGHTON SCHOOLS

(Elizabeth Sellman)

The first school in the city of Brighton was erected in the summer of 1837. As one enters Brighton from the east on Grand River, the first house to the left is on the ground where that first school was built. This was a small log cabin. In some mysterious way, unknown to the present generation, though, seemingly not at all to the surprise of the past generation, this school house was built before the organization of the district, which was "putting the cart before the horse." This school was used for ten years and then, for various reasons, the district rented a house for school purposes. After growing tired of having a rented house the district built a school in 1850.

The second school was located one block east of the Methodist church on the northeast corner of East Street and Spencer Road. It was used until 1868 and was later sold for a carriage shop.

The third school was built in 1868 and located west of the Ann Arbor road. One thousand and five hundred dollars was to be raised by taxation to pay for this brick structure. This school was used until 1928 when the present building was erected.

As one glances backward one notices that the teachers in 1838 received thirty-five dollars a year. At that time education was administered by force. Teachers did not hesitate to strike a pupil with a Harper's Geography fourteen inches long, ten inches wide and one inch thick, and weighing two pounds.

One night the boys of B. H. S. tied a calf to the rope on the bell and put hay far enough away from it that the calf had to jump in order to get the hay thus making the bell ring. This was done several time, particularly at night. In the old building the boys spent their time planning revenge on their teachers.

The fourth school in the city of Brighton was erected in the year 1928 on the Brighton Heights at the corner of East Main and First Streets. The improvements of the new building are many, among which are the water and ventilating systems, gymnasium, clinic room, and the electric clock system.

The curriculum is divided into two courses, namely, vocational and college preparatory courses. Many new and interesting subjects, including domestic arts and manual training have been introduced.

The new school is a great improvement over the former ones. The entering of the new building marks the beginning of the most important period of advancement in the history of the Brighton schools.

All things considered, it is very evident that our Brighton school system has progressed very steadily and rapidly within a short period, and has great expectations for the future.

SALUTATORY

(Henrietta L. Newcomb)

"All the world's a stage,
 And all the men and women merely players:
 They have their exits and their entrances:
 And one man in his time plays many parts."

So wrote the incomparable Shakespeare, and so, indeed, has life proved to us by the passing of time. Tonight, the curtain is about to rise upon the prologue of the Great Drama of Life, in which we as individuals have been cast to play the role selected for us. It is to witness the rising of this curtain that I am now bidding you welcome.

As we face the hour when we must step forth upon the stage, it is only natural that we should review the past and wonder what part has been designed for our portrayal. And as we glance back, we are astounded by the splendor of the scenes which have been depicted. Indeed, it is the greatest of all masterpieces of tragedy and comedy ever written. Was there ever anything greater than the histories of our great nation and its heroes as they come on the stage, play their parts, and then "go the way of all humanity" and leave the stage clear for the appearance of the next player?

And how well the drama of our own national progress has been planned—how perfectly the parts have been written by our Mistress—Fate. How well manipulated are the moments of suspense, and how startling the climaxes. How convincing the moral thread that proves everywhere development—the triumph of right over wrong.

The hour has come when we make our first bow before the curtain. We know not whether our role be heavy and tragic, or that of the light comedian whose role is often hardest of all. But we are sure that whatever is best fitted for our development will be assigned us by the Great Stage Manager who never places man in any but his proper place. We are aware that we cannot all play leading parts at once, but by carefully studying the noblest and best, we may grasp our opportunities as soon as we are prepared to meet them.

Be ready, then, dear friends, to commend our every effort and encourage us on to each approaching climax, as we welcome you to this first lifting of the curtain that is to us, indeed, the Commencement of our lives.

Again I welcome you together with the class of 1930.

CLASS HISTORY (Bruce Herbst)

As the task of writing the class history has fallen upon me, I shall try to relate the experiences of the class of 1930.

In the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-six, in the month of September there congregated in the halls of learning known as the Brighton High School, of Brighton, Michigan, approximately forty-five individuals, who came seeking greater knowledge. We chose for our President, Elmer Watson; for Vice President, Henrietta Newcomb; for Secretary, Ruth Newman, and for Treasurer, Glenn Cramton. Mr. Judson was appointed as our advisor. This year was eventful and the last day of our Freshman year was spent at a picnic at Island Lake.

The following year brought only twenty Sophomores who reunited to elect the following officers: President, Frederick Seger; Vice President, Judson Jacoby; Secretary-Treasurer, Olive Nauss. The school was under new management this year, Supt. P. L. Bell succeeded Supt. Swarzentraub. Mr. Leith, the Principal, was our advisor. An uneventful but successful year was brought to a close by a picnic at Island Lake.

When school was resumed on Sept. 2, 1928, twenty-one Juniors met for the first time in our new building to choose the officers for that year. Don Schwartz was elected President; Henrietta Newcomb, Vice President; Morris Rusling, Secretary; and Marcel Sugden, Treasurer. Mr. Webb was our advisor.

Two of our members, Olive Nauss and Helen Hayner, decided to take on the "holy bonds of matrimony." The following new students joined us: Hattie DeWolf, Leslie DeWolf, Don Schwartz, Mercedes Morgan, Ventura Shannon, Evelyn Carter, Dorothy Rutter, and John Holt.

The Juniors were well represented in athletics having had a number of players on the foot ball, basket ball, and base ball teams.

On April 5, 1929, the farce comedy entitled, "The Arrival of Kitty" was presented by the Junior class. The performance revealed the artistic talent of the following Juniors: Morris Rusling, Ruth Newman, Bruce Herbst, Andrew Krogstad, Clara Krogstad, Fred Seger, Helen Hayner, Marcel Sugden, and Dorothy Rutter. Due to illness Henrietta Newcomb was forced to forfeit her part to Dorothy Rutter. Miss Fee showed much ability as a director.

On May 31, 1929 the Junior-Senior Reception was held at the Woodland Golf and Country Club. Decorations were carried out in the school colors, orange and black. A delightful dinner was served, both classes participating in the program which followed. The speaker for the evening was Rev. Price with Supt. P. L. Bell acting as toastmaster. The "Farewell Speech to the Seniors" was given by Don Schwartz; the "Response," by Dorothy Scott. The evening was spent in dancing.

Two months later twenty-one individuals, still looking strangely familiar, were distinguished by a dignified demeanor, which was altogether fitting and proper for Seniors. They elected Morris Rusling, President; Mercedes Morgan, Vice President; Don Schwartz, Secretary; and Fred Seger, Treasurer. Miss Bruhns was chosen for our Sponsor. We chose for our colors, blue and silver; the class flower, yellow rose; and our motto "Nothing succeeds so well as success."

In order to raise ourselves from a state of poverty, which was our fate at the beginning of this year, we decided to sell candy during the noon hour and after school except on Thursday. This has been carried on throughout the school year with much success.

As our "candy selling" was proving so successful, we decided to show our skill further by being the first graduating class at Brighton to publish an annual. Our decision was not definitely reached until the second semester, so an increased effort was necessary in order to make our book a success. The following staff members were elected: Editor-in-chief, Anthony Renne; Ass't. Editor-in-chief, Clara Krogstad; Business Manager, Henrietta Newcomb; Advertising Manager, Ruth Newman and Margaret Morrison; Sports and Athletics, Don Schwartz; Society Editor, Mercedes Morgan; Snap-shot Editor, Ventura Shannon; Jokes and Cartoons, Morris Rusling; and Faculty Advisors, Miss Bruhns and Mr. Bell. "The Shield" was chosen as the title of our book.

Myrtle Smith, who joined us this year, remained during the first semester, but was later married on April 11, 1930 to Ralph Winkelhaus of Hamburg, Michigan.

John Holt, the second of our members to leave this year, joined the Navy on May 1, 1930.

The class decided to dispense with Class Night exercises this year as the program for that night will appear in our annual. The essays will, however, be presented for Assembly on Friday, June 6, 1930.

The Baccalaureate services will be held on June 15 at the Lutheran church with Rev. E. F. Klingensmith in charge, assisted by Rev. M. H. Kingsbury of the Wesleyan Methodist church.

On the evening of June 18, the Juniors will entertain the Seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Reception at the High School. It will be of the nature of a J-Hop and the evening will be spent in dancing.

In the next day, June 19, a picnic and inter-class Field meet will conclude the long list of activities of the class of 1930, and on the following evening Dr. Howard Yale McClusky of the University of Michigan will deliver the Commencement address at the High School Auditorium.

And now as we leave Brighton High we feel that not only have we prospered and gained but the ones behind us who will fill the places which we leave vacant will have also gained from us and will be able to make Brighton High a bigger and better school.

We feel that we have this year proved our ability to complete a task successfully. We owe our success this year largely to our advisor, Miss Bruhns, who has so willingly assisted us in accomplishing our tasks.

PROPHECY

(Margaret Morrison—Ruth Newman)

In the year 1950, Margaret Morrison and Ruth Newman, graduates from Brighton High School with the class of '30, met at the M. S. T. A. at Detroit the following conversation was overheard by an ardent listener.

M.—Well, Ruth, what have you heard concerning the other members of our class? I'm awfully anxious to hear about them.

R.—Of course you know that three of our boys, Andrew Krogstad, Bruce Herbst, and Joe Collins, have become very popular in radio land.

M.—No, I listen only to educational programs. Are they playing in an orchestra?

R.—Bruce and Andy have taken the place of Amos and Andy and from what I hear, they are even more popular than the original pair. Joe is playing the violin in Seth Parker's band at Tompkin's Corners.

M.—I am glad to hear that they have gained fame. By the way, have you seen Donald Schwartz in his latest picture "The Heartbreaker?"

R.—No, I always thought that Donald resembled Buddy Rogers, but hadn't heard that he was a movie actor.

M.—Yes, Don seems to have made a great hit. I always thought that perhaps Henrietta Newcomb would become an actress. Do you ever hear from her.

R.—Only once in awhile. She has gone abroad and is modeling dresses in a very exclusive Paris shop.

M.—Just lately while I was making a tour of the Western States, I came upon our friend Ventura Shannon. She informed me that she had gone west to study 'art' but had changed her mind, and after buying 100 acres of land she had become a farmer-ette. She told me that Mercedes Morgan finally married "Judd" and that they had opened a chain of theatres called the "United Jacoby Amusement Co." After leaving Ventura I continued my journey. Arriving at a small village, I decided to spend the night there. It was early, so I walked around attempting to find amusement. On a large building I saw the sign, "DeWolf and DeWolf Day Nursery." The name sounded familiar and glancing in the window I saw none other than Hattie DeWolf. Of course I went in. She told me that she and Leslie had been running the nursery for five years and that they were making a great success of the business.

M.—Evelyn Carter works in the nursery and Hattie says that she is a wonderful hand with children. Do you hear anything about Fred Seger or Morris Rusling?

R.—Yes, Fred is making his mark in the world as a chemist. Through his efforts all the laws of chemistry have been discarded and Fred has published a text book of his own investigations. I hear that only three people have been killed so far while working out his experiments. Morris has secured the position as cartoonist for the Literary Digest. He is in very close association with Floyd Gibbons. I have often

M.—Buz is a noted swimmer and I read in the paper the other day that he received a serious head wound but is doing nicely now.

R.—Oh, how was he injured?

M.—Buz dreamed that he was competing with Gertrude Ederle in a swimming race across the English Channel. Realizing that he was being defeated he suddenly plunged forward and bumped his head on the bed post, inflicting a serious wound.

R.—I'm sorry to hear that. Do you think that it will effect his memory?

M.—No, our classmate, Merrill Herbst, who is now pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Chicago, heard of Anthony's misfortune and went to him at once. After some time Buz recognized him so the doctors have hopes now that his mind will again be normal.

R.—What! Merrill Herbst a pastor?

M.—Yes, Merrill has been preaching for nearly 20 years, he boasts that he is now equal to Amiee McPherson.

R.—Clara Krogstad seems to have gone to quite the other extreme. She is dancing in a Broadway Revue. Reports state that she certainly pleases the public.

M.—Dorothy Rutter is in New York, too, isn't she?

R.—Oh, is she? The last time I heard from her she was still in Detroit. However, she told me then that she expected to be transferred to New York.

M.—She directs a "Musical School of the Air" similar to that of Damrosch.

M.—Where does she teach?

R.—Ruth is dean of Women at the Western State Normal College.

M.—That's fine, I hope that I shall see her before leaving here.

R.—How time flies! It is nearly dark and I must be on my way to the hotel. Won't you have dinner with me tomorrow evening?

M.—Certainly, what time?

M.—Goodbye.

CLASS POEM

By Mercedes Morgan

It was in '26 we came here,
 Why it seems like yesterday
 That we entered full of gladness,
 Full of work as well as play.
 How sure we were of gaining
 Every step we meant to take,
 But how easily we lose them
 Is a lesson learned to date.
 There were classmates behind us,
 There were hands to pull us through
 Now there are many years of working
 That we alone must do.
 Each step will take us nearer
 To the goal each strives to gain,
 Each lesson learned in high school
 Will not have been in vain.
 Years slip by so quickly,
 We're like the waters of a brook
 With its turns and merry chatter
 And its crazy little nocks.
 But brooks flow into the sea
 As streams and rivers do,
 And so must we step into life
 To seek our paths anew.

THE CLASS WILL

(Hattie DeWolf)

Upon behalf of the class of 1930 of Brighton High School, I have been asked to read to you her last will and testament. These are her decisions which she has made. She is giving these gifts into the possession of those for whom she thinks them best fitted, praying that they will accept them as a sacred trust from one who has gone before.

Listen then, one and all, while I read the document as duly drawn up and sworn to.

We, the class of '30, being about to pass out of this sphere of education, having a crammed mind and well trained memory, do make and publish this, our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making void all former wills.

First, we give and bequeath to the faculty who have been our faithful instructors, a sweet and unbroken succession of restful nights and peaceful dreams, for we know it has been hard on them sitting up nights, trying to think of some way to install this or that thing in our memories. We are very grateful to them for having taken the interest in us that they have, so we have decided upon this as a just reward for the trials they have undergone on our behalf.

To the class who have associated with us we leave our example as a perfect well trained class. May they in the future imitate and never equal us.

To the Freshman class who will be the Sophomores of next year we leave our sale of candy, to be carried on in the same successful way as we have this past year.

To the Junior class we leave Margaret Morrison's "way of collecting bills" to aid them in collecting from those unwilling to pay for their hot dogs.

To the future baseball team we will Andrew Krogstad's baseball, bat and glove.

To anyone having difficulty Merrill Herbst wills his art of successful farming.

To anyone who needs it we leave Joe Collin's bluff and ability to look innocent when in mischief.

To Irene Boice we leave Ruth Herbst's experience as a waitress.

To Mr. Bell we will Evelyn Carter's ability to drive a Chevrolet.

To Gladys Newman we will Henrietta Newcomb's blonde hair and slender lines.

To Benjamin Clark we will Don Schwartz's "way with the ladies."

To Florence Roblin we leave Clara Krogstad's superior height.

We leave Bruce Herbst's habit of blushing when the girls look at him to James Hayner.

We leave Ruth Newman's and Mercedes Morgan's gum to anyone who can chew it in school and not get caught.

To Edmund Lams we leave Fred Seger's gift of eating candy in school.

Morris Rusling's ability as a cartoonist we leave to Lyle Herbst.

To Lewis Tuthill we will Anthony Renne's "way of successfully entertaining the girls."

And lastly we leave the balance in our class treasury to Mr. Zemke, to be used in purchasing a pair of rubber shoes for detective work.

We do hereby appoint our class advisor, Miss Bruhns, as sole executor of our last will and testament.

In witness whereof, We the Class of '30, have to this set our hands this twentieth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty.

THE GIFTATORY SPEECH

(Ventura Shannon)

Dear Departing Friends:—

Upon this sad occasion we are called together to say farewell.

I wish as a slight proof of my affection for you, to present each dear member with a kindly remembrance from a sorrowing classmate.

To Clara Krogstad, who has a noted reputation for being a tireless student and fond of study, I present this candle for in order to conquer the lessons that are stamped for her future, she will often want to sit up late to study. May it light you to future success.

To Leslie who is inclined to be slow in getting around, I offer this bottle of ketchup which we hope will help him to speed up a bit.

To Ruth Herbst I present this cowbell. May you always wear this around your neck, so it will be possible for people to know of your presence.

THE GIFTATORY SPEECH

To Bruce, who is so bashful he never talks to the girls, I present this match, hoping that in years to come it may help him to spark up and make a match for himself.

To Joe who evidently thinks so much of a certain member of this school with whom he must now part, I offer this handkerchief with which to wipe away the many tears of parting.

To Anthony, who has won the favor of many a young maiden by writing her notes on the sly, I take pleasure in giving these postage stamps with which to send the letters he is sure to write to the fair sex.

To Ruth Newman, I present this package of Gum hoping it may long be a pleasant memory of the many times she has chewed gum in school when Mr. Zemke was and was not looking.

On every occasion our class has made good use of Dorothy as our pianist, so thinking she had exhausted her supply of music, I take pleasure in presenting her with the new and popular son hit, "If I Had a Girl Like You."

Margaret has cut quite a figure as a school "marm" and, no doubt, that will be her future occupation so I will give her this whip for future use, to be hung on the wall in time of enjoyment and to be used severely in time of annoyance.

To Andy, I present this card on "How to Spoon in An Automobile." I hope it will be of some value to him in future courtships.

In a few weeks Don will be looking for something to do to pass away the time, so I'm giving him this sack of marbles to keep him out of mischief.

Henrietta is very fond of hunting birds, so I have great pleasure in presenting her with this gun, hoping she will never miss the pee-wees.

To Hattie, who is our silent, bashful brunette, I present this booklet which contains five lessons on "The Art of Public Speaking."

To Morris Rusling, who is our famous cartoonist, I present this life size photo of Andy Gump, so a mirror will no longer be necessary for him.

To Mercedes, I present this portable movie machine to be installed in a Ford Sedan, making it possible to have movies at all times.

To Merrill, I present this order to the Kroger store for a box of dates to be purchased one at a time.

Information may also be received from Fred Seger at that store.

To Evelyn, I present this can of gasoline in case she runs out while chauffeuring Pat and Glenn.

To Ventura Shannon, who seems to have a peculiar liking for Jordan roadsters and who had the serious misfortune to lose hers, we give this yellow Jordan, hoping that this replacement will be satisfactory.

Fred is last but not forgotten. When I came to him I didn't think there was anything left, but I knew he would feel so insulted for waiting so I have decided to give him something that would last longest, (all day sucker).

And now dear schoolmates, I hope you will accept these slight tokens remembering that the value of a gift depends upon the affection with which it is given. I now bid you goodbye with many good wishes for success and happiness.

 SENIOR CLASS SONG

By Dorothy Rutter

Now that our school days are over,
 We think of happy days gone by
 Of the days when we were only Freshmen
 Within the walls of Brighton High.
 And soon our Sophomore days were with us,
 We thought our Junior Year sublime,
 Today our Senior Year is ended,
 We leave our "High School Days" behind.
 We leave our dear old "Brighton High School,"
 Although our school days are ended,
 We keep the sweetest memories,
 Of happy days we've spent together,
 Of friendships formed, forever true,
 Of dear old Brighton High School's glory,
 Brighton, farewell to you.

VALEDICTORY
(Clara Krogstad)

Another school year is drawing to a close and once again Commencement time is bringing happiness to us who have reached the goal toward which we have been striving for the past four years. Mingled with joy is sadness at leaving our friends with whom we have associated so long; regrets, perhaps, for opportunities we have let slip by in which we could have done more and better work, and Time that we might have used to better advantage. As we look back, we can see many of our mistakes and short-comings—as we look forward, it is with confidence that we shall be able to overcome the obstacles which we will inevitably meet. And, after all, the fundamental idea of education is to train us and fit us for the problems of life intelligently and efficiently.

But while we regard Commencement as a goal which has been attained, in reality it is only a beginning—a step forward. Life so far has been a mixture of work and play. The time has come when we must look at the more serious side of life to endeavor to find the place intended for us. From now on, we must depend upon ourselves and our own efforts. Life will be what we ourselves make it. Let us make it worth while.

For the foundation which has been built, we are indebted to the people of Brighton and the Board of Education. To you, we extend our thanks and appreciation for what you have done in providing this opportunity for us.

Parents, it is to you we extend our most heart-felt gratitude. By your willing assistance and encouragement, you have made it possible for us to make use of this opportunity.

To you, the members of the Faculty, we express our sincere gratitude for the patience and forbearance you have shown us.

Classmates, tonight as we stand upon the threshold of Life, after working and playing together for four years, it is with confidence that we shall succeed. Let us always think of our motto—Nothing succeeds so well as success. Success does not necessarily mean the accumulation of a great fortune. It means more than this. It means the development of noble characters—the inclination and ability to serve the community in which we live—to live for others as well as ourselves, and to give as well as receive. With this thought in mind, I bid you all a fond farewell, hoping that each and everyone of the class of 1930 will enjoy great success in any endeavor which he might undertake.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

(The Juniors)

We, the Juniors of 1929-'30, are the last students in whose high school life memories of the old Brighton High School buildings still linger. In the autumn of 1927 we entered this ancient structure as "Freshies" numbering forty-one and timidly took up our work under the new Superintendent, Mr. P. L. Bell. We were very fortunate to be guided from the beginning by our ever-faithful and dependable advisor, Mrs. Monroe, who has helped us through the trials and tribulations of our high school days. She has kindled among us the proper class spirit and has blotted out every thing which might tend to obstruct our welfare. Our activities consisted entirely of a few out of door parties at Island Lake, but in spite of the limited entertainments and the inconveniences of the old building we experienced a great deal of pleasure in this environment. This phase of our school life will always remain as one of the brightest in our memories. Our class officers were as follows: President, Lyle Bitten; vice president, William Funch; secretary, Grace Bidwell; treasurer, Virginia Rosene.

In the beginning of our Sophomore year we had to adapt ourselves to entirely new surroundings. In extreme contrast to the old school of our Freshman year we entered a new building equipped with modern conveniences which had not been thought of a year before. Ten of our classmates left us, leaving only thirty-one. Early in this year we decided to go to Washington when we graduate as the "twenty-niners" had done. We spent the entire year raising funds for the trip, and thus far we have made splendid progress toward this end.

All of this was not accomplished at the sacrifice of "good times" for we have had several parties, hikes and entertainments. Among the most outstanding of these were a musical concert, a box social, sleighride party, several roasts, and class parties. Our Sophomore year was brought to a close with a picnic at Walled Lake thus ending our activities until another year. The following were our officers: President, Frederick Hyne; vice president, Judson Jacoby; secretary, Irene Boice; and treasurer, Lois Schwartz.

When we entered school last fall only twenty-one of our classmates enrolled, later four new students joined us making a total of twenty-five. Mrs. Monroe still remained our advisor. During this year we have selected our class rings, had many parties and are still continuing our struggle toward financing the Washington trip. Some of the activities which went toward this cause were a musical concert, bake sales, the selling of Christmas wreaths, and a class play, "Be An Optimist." Perhaps the gayest and most memorable event of the season will be the Junior-Senior reception.

We have been represented each year in the Student Council by two members and this year Hilda Martin and Benjamin Clark are our representatives.

The close of the year is not far distant and as we pass on we leave the Sophomores to take our places, and may they keep up the spirit of the old Junior Class—"Life is a picture so paint it well."

THE JUNIOR PLAY

(Gladys Newman)

The farce comedy, "Be An Optimist," which was presented on May 16, 1930 at the Rialto Theatre by the Junior Class, was considered one of the best amateur plays ever produced in Brighton, one far above the expectations of the people who attended.

Much credit should be given to Miss Lucile Bruhns, of the English department, who so kindly and faithfully directed the play and helped to make it a success. The class presented Miss Bruhns with a beautiful bouquet of flowers and a lovely gift in appreciation for her work.

From the time the curtains rose until the finish the appreciation of the audience was shown through loud peals of laughter.

Glenn Cramton or Mr. Isaac Golditch, the antiquer of the Golditch Art Shop, made a typical Jew and displayed his part exceptionally well. His make-up was so perfect that at first only few people were able to recognize him.

Evelyn Lorimor as Becky, Isaac's daughter, was a perfect Jewess and a great help to her father in the antique business. She displayed much talent in transforming modern pictures into antique ones.

Bennie Clark as Pietro was the expert worm holer who had just come over from his native country, Italy. He was some expert, too! He shot the ears off the Germans in the war before he killed them. He seemed to be having some difficulty in learning the American language, nevertheless, he succeeded in using the right word to express his ideas. We feel, however, that if Bennie chooses any occupation other than the stage he will have missed his "calling."

Fred Hyne, or the poor stiff, displayed his part as the mummy exceedingly well. Fred deserves much credit for the way in which he took this unusual and difficult part. He not only displayed ability as a mummy but as a lover, in the person of Jimmie Maynard, as well. In fact, he was willing to elope in order to get the girl of his choice.

Alcestia Davis as Mildred Clinton, who is in love and likes it, has decided to elope and by so doing get Jimmie in spite of her mother's objections. She was a very attractive fiancée and we do not blame Jimmie for loving her.

Gladys Newman appeared as Mrs. Clinton, a wealthy widow who has more money than brains when she sees antiques. Mrs. Clinton seems rather harsh toward her daughter, but not at all bashful in telling her proposed son-in-law what she thinks of him. After all what else is she interested in other than mummies and antiques?

William Funsch as Ray Hudson, a friend of Jimmie Maynard and of the Clinton family, played his part with great ease and naturalness. It seemed no effort for him to make love to Jimmy's Mildred, and why should it? There is no doubt that many a girl would have taken that kiss from such a handsome young man even if a dozen mummies had interfered.

Verne Seger as the Irish Mike made a good bundle boy and also a painter even if he didn't belong to the painter's union.

Marguerite Buckelew acting the part of Miss Hull, an interior decorator, did much to make Mrs. Clinton's "Oriental Ball" a success. Her work displayed her natural ability as a decorator.

A household like that of Mrs. Clinton's could not be complete without a maid. Wealtha Mae Kellogg as Maggie, furnished some real amusement for the audience. She made as nice a little Irish maid as one could wish for. Her perfect accent completed her make up.

Then there is Ethel Peabody to consider. She was none other than Hilda Martin who defies love to affect her. To be sure she made a fitting pal for Mildred. She seemed just a bit more experienced in "love matters" than her friend, Mildred. She likes a good time but does not care to be serious, especially when it means the same man at breakfast, dinner and supper, and all day Sunday.

John Polkow as Spencer, the detective, was a great help in solving the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the macaroni, fish water and cat meat at Mrs. Clinton's "Oriental Ball."

Last but not least is Madam Goopher, portrayed by Helen Risch. In her flowing white robe she was exactly as her name signifies—a dispenser of spirits. She did unusually well portraying the various characters necessary for her part.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

(Helen Mae Schoenhals)

It was in September of nineteen hundred and twenty-eight, that forty-four Freshmen entered our new school as the first class to receive its complete high school education here and obviously, we are very proud of this fact.

Mr. Monroe was chosen as our class advisor and at our first class meeting we elected the following officers: President, Helen Mae Schoenhals; Vice President, Wilbur Jacobs; Secretary, Dorothy Roberts; Treasurer, Dorothea Thompson. We were also represented in the Student Council by two members.

The Freshmen ranked among the first in student athletics, especially the girls. In the school basket ball tournament only the Seniors were our superiors.

We were very ambitious and desired some means by which we might earn money. We finally decided to sell "Hot Dogs" every Thursday as a class project thus hoping to enrich our treasury sufficiently to permit us to enjoy that much longed for trip to Washington during our Senior year.

By the end of our Freshman year the class had decreased considerably. At our first Sophomore meeting we had added several new members, nevertheless our class numbered only thirty. Feeling that Mr. Monroe had performed his duties very efficiently he was again chosen as our advisor. We are gain represented in the Student Council by Francis Burgar and Helen Mae Schoenhals.

The financial endeavors of the class have been very successful and we, as Sophomores, look back over the past years feeling that much has been accomplished.

We have learned to profit by our mistakes and will enter our Junior year confident that after these years of experience we shall be better fitted to fulfill to the letter, our motto, "Onward and Upward."

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY
(Marjorie Davis)

Our first introduction to high school society was at the Freshman reception, where the upper classmen extended to us a welcome to Brighton High. This proved a very enjoyable affair and was held in the high school auditorium. Having become better acquainted with our classmates we felt ready to start our four years of high school work.

Classes were soon organized and we, fortunately, secured as our advisor Miss Giffels, who has worked very faithfully with us in all of our undertakings. Alice Mary Hartman was elected president; Joe Kauble, vice president; Gertrude Zeilman, secretary; and Arthur Olsen, treasurer. We were sorry to have Gertrude Zeilman and Arthur Olsen leave us and found it necessary to substitute Marjorie Davis and Ray Pearsall to fill the vacancies.

We were given several nice parties at the homes of various members of the class. One of these being held at the home of Marjorie Davis. The tables were decorated with the class colors, yellow and blue, games were played and Christmas gifts were exchanged. A very pleasant time was reported. A coasting and tobogganing party was held early in February at the home of Louis Tuthill. Another very pleasant evening was brought to a close with the serving of refreshments. Maxine Parkinson also entertained us at her home. Games were played and dinner was served.

The class is undertaking as its major activity the erection of tennis courts. Garden seeds and school supplies are being sold to help raise the money.

Although the year is not over, we feel that when it comes time for us to join the upper classmen we will have completed a successful year.

EIGHTH GRADE HISTORY
 (Helen Seger)

The Eighth Grade of 1929-'30 is the first grade of the Junior High School to enter the new building. Much of our first year here was spent trying to acclimate ourselves to the new surroundings. With Mrs. Dearing as our advisor, we succeeded in mastering the situation. Our officers were as follows: President, Caryl Herman; Vice President, Elizabeth Sellman; Secretary, Helen Seger; Treasurer, Virginia Jacobs; Advisor, Mrs. Dearing. Our seventh grade was completed with a picnic at Island Lake.

When school began last September twenty-five eighth graders answered the roll call for duty. We have lost a few of our members of last year, but new ones have taken their places.

We have shown more class interest and spirit than formerly and have taken an active part in athletics. We are particularly proud to have two members of our class, William Hyne and Robert Clark, represent us in basket ball on the reserve team. Our girls deserve special mention. They have played many class basket ball games, the majority of which they have been victorious or have, at least put up a good fight.

With Mr. Webb as our advisor this year, we have made splendid progress in matters of thrift and class conduct. The Thrift Banner for banking has been our property most of this year as well as last. Our representatives in the Student Council are Helen Seger and Charles Case.

SEVENTH GRADE HISTORY

Matred Jones

We entered the Junior High School in September 1929 and soon found ourselves in an entirely new atmosphere in comparison to that of the intermediate grades.

Miss Eriksen was appointed as our class advisor and when the class met for the first time, we elected the following officers: president, Alice Newcomb; vice-president, Ralph Chamberlain; secretary, Thelma Roush; treasurer, Frances Bennett. We are represented in the Student Council by Matred Jones and Robert Weeks.

One of our first undertakings was a play entitled "And The Lamp Went Out," which was presented for assembly. Those taking part were Rose Webb, Matred Jones, Robert Weeks, Buel Pitkin, and Virginia Meade.

On October 31, we had a Hallowe'en party and every one enjoyed a good time.

Although we made a very poor start in banking, we soon rose rapidly and by November reached the 100% mark.

We organized a basket ball team which made a good showing considering the material and amount of practice.

Although we have just started our high school career, we feel that we have accomplished a great deal this year and feel proud of the spirit of our class and we sincerely hope that it will continue through the years that we spend in Brighton High School.

THE "SHIELD" STAFF

Above is a picture of the "Shield" staff. This group was selected the latter part of this year at which time work upon this publication was begun. In the months during which the process of compiling material has been carried on, the staff as individuals and as a body, has experienced many difficulties, mistakes have been made, trying problems have been met, but one aim has ever been kept in mind, to produce a book which would be representative of Brighton High School.

The present volume is the result. It is not a masterpiece, nor was it the design of the staff that it should be. To make it a work of personal and human interest to all has been the purpose behind the efforts of those who have striven for its success.

Much thought and deliberation has been given in choosing the members of the staff and only those were elected to do this work and whose ability was certain to help make this annual a success.

The "Shield" of the class of 1930 is the first publication of its sort to be left to the school. It is our earnest desire that in future years the staff will be continually and new features will be added to the annual.

The body of this book is composed of material which describes the activities of Brighton High School in the present year. Its purpose is to preserve for the students of Brighton High a record of their high school life which will be of increasing value as the years go on.

Such is the scope of this book which, in its present form, is the work of the student body. With a few exceptions the entire work of publication, from the assigning of copy, and the correcting of proofs to the financing of the entire proposition, has been done by the members of the Senior Class. Nevertheless, the staff is indebted to several members of the faculty for kindly advice and acts of assistance, and especially to Miss Bruhns who so kindly cooperated with the Senior Class as their advisor.

The staff of the "Shield" wishes to take this opportunity for expressing its gratitude for the excellent work done by the various people who so willingly wrote up special articles. Everyone else who has done anything for the "Shield" will please consider himself included in this vote of thanks.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

When the students of Brighton High School entered their new building for the first time in the fall of 1928 they took with them many new and fine ideas. The most important of them was the introduction of a Student Council.

This has been adopted not only to make the pupils content by giving them a voice in the management, but to secure greater efficiency in student activities; to raise the standards of scholarship morals, athletics and other affairs; to maintain co-operation between students and faculty; and to instill into those attending school a greater loyalty to Brighton High.

The council is composed of two members from each class of the Junior and Senior High Schools. They meet once each week with Mr. Bell, who acts as their advisor, to discuss problems which arise among the students. Occasionally various situations which directly concern the administration of the school are submitted to the council for the purpose of obtaining the students' point of view. Mr. Bell reserves the power to decide whether or not these decisions become effective.

The first undertaking for the council was to decide means for the classes to earn money. This was accomplished entirely to the satisfaction of all classes. Another achievement for which the council deserves much credit was the general management of the mid-semester party which proved to be a huge success.

But all this and the other minor things that have been accomplished could not have been done if the students had not worked with each other and with their advisor. True is the old maxim "United we stand; divided we fall," and our school, will in the future, as time goes on, prosper and grow through the years.

School Party A Success

The all school party, which was held in the high school auditorium on January 31, was very well attended.

At the beginning of the evening the dance floor was quite deserted, but the crowd gradually centered there and dancing became the outstanding event. The orchestra consisted of Mrs. Adams, Miss Mutter, Mr. Adams, Mr. Webb and Mr. Minkley.

Those who did not care to dance spent an enjoyable evening in the kindergarten room where many different games were in play.

Punch and wafers were served. Everyone who attended reported a good time and declared that this party was one of the best of its kind.

Musical Concert

A musical concert was given by Mrs. Adams and Miss Margaret Jones, Wednesday evening, Feb. 5, for the benefit of the Junior Class. Due to the poor weather the concert was poorly attended, however, everyone who took advantage of this unusual opportunity was more than satisfied. Both Mrs. Adams and Miss Jones played very charming selections. Miss Beulah Krause and Miss Geraldine Bartlett also assisted with readings and vocal selections.

Student Council Activities

February 28, 1930.
The meeting was called to order by Bell. All members were present. Mr. Howell talked to us about the money through enter- ment. The central set cost $32.47 with the extra necessary equipment. The Junior Sophomore classes pay $150 each at the other classes; the balance, however, this plan did not seem to meet with much approval. The meeting was adjourned.

"And Home Came Ted"

The play, "And Home Came Ted" given by the dramatics class, proved to be quite successful. The leading characters, Don Schwartz, Beulah Krause and Alcestis Davis, did very well, and Geraldine Bartlett playing the part of the colored cook presented a very humorous act. Much credit should be given Ardis Tompkins who with a very short notice took the part of "Elsie."
The high school orchestra played during intermission. Between the second and third acts, Alice Mary Hartman gave a very charming selection on the violin.
Many thanks are here given to all who helped to make it a success.
The cast was as follows:

Brighton High School Defeats New Hudson, Keego Harbor and the Alumni

American History Debate

Through an argument in American History class a debate was aroused on the topic of whether the winter of 1776 was the most critical period of the Revolution. Mercedes Morgan acted as chairman. This speaking on the affirmative side was Harold Lietzau, Alcestis Davis and Fred Hyme. Those on the negative side were Bonnie Clark, Helen Risch and Anthony Renne. Ruth Newman, Margaret Morrison and Dorothy Ruf acted as judges. The negative side won, stating that the Battle of Saratoga was the most critical period. Because those on the affirmative side were not yet convinced, the debate was held again in chapel with members of the faculty acting as judges. The affirmative side won, votes being 5 to 2.

Athletic Activities at B. H. S.

The School Annual

The School Annual, sponsored by the Senior Class, is now well under way, and we are sure of it being a success.
The Annual includes the pictures of the classes of the Junior and Senior High, the faculty and organizations and their history.
The contract for printing has been awarded to Eric Singer and the engraving will be done by the Capital Engraving Company.
This is the first Annual that has been published in the Brighton High School and we want it to be a success. We will appreciate your cooperation.

TWIDDLERS CLUB

The members of the English Literature class have organized a club for the purpose of bettering the school paper. They have decided to call it the "Twiddlers Club."

It was with great anticipation that we first saw the "Bright and High News" emerge from its seclusion and come forth to serve as the vehicle for the exhibition of much latent genius. And our hopes were not disappointed, for, under the direction of the exceedingly competent staff and advisor, some of the best talent of the school made itself known. Especial thanks should be rendered the Editor and the Faculty Advisor for their faithful and untiring labor.

Each member of the staff was given charge of some department and has adopted the following names:

Miss Giffels—Bossy Twiddler
 Gladys Newman—Most High Twiddler
 Fred Hyne—Busy Twiddler
 Alcestis Davis—Pen Twiddler
 Hilda Martin—Newsy Twiddler
 Anthony Renne—Team Twiddler
 Bennie Clark—Funny Twiddler
 Helen Risch—"Ad" Twiddler
 Marguerite Buckelew—Swap Twiddler

 ORE CREEK HISTORY CLUB

Elizabeth Sellman

The Ore Creek History Club was started as an Eighth Grade history project for the purpose of writing the history of Brighton. Miss Giffels suggested to the class that the Eighth Grade write the history. The class at once expressed its willingness to support this project, and later decided that it would form a club. The members who were interested organized the Ore Creek Club. They thought this name appropriate as Brighton was first called Ore Creek.

The club has secured much valuable information concerning the people, schools, homes, stores, and the pioneer history of Brighton.

In the first meeting the following officers were elected:
 Advisor—Miss Giffels
 Editor-In-Chief—Elizabeth Sellman

With its aim to publish reliable, complete, and accurate accounts of the history of Brighton, the club has every reason to look forward to a very promising future.

THE ORCHESTRA

The Brighton High School Orchestra was organized at the beginning of the school year under the direction of Miss Scott. A membership of twelve students was secured and practices were held regularly during school hours. This regular practice had much to do with the success of the organization.

The orchestra made its first appearance last November at the school play "And Home Came Ted." The applause of the audience showed its enjoyment of the music and its appreciation of the work. Their success continued and they took part in the important events of the school season. They also played at the P. T. A. meetings and assemblies.

Thanks and appreciation in a large measure are due to the efforts of the director, Miss Scott, without whose valuable aid they could not have made the success that they did. Yet a director, no matter how good, cannot make a success unless the players are there. It means a great deal of work and honest effort. To the Seniors leaving the orchestra, Don Schwartz, Dorothy Rutter and Joe Collins, the members extend their best wishes and hearty thanks for their interest and cooperation.

We hope next year to have a more complete music department. The progress that has been made this year shows that the department is worthy of all possible assistance and encouragement.

THE FOOT BALL TEAM

The football team of 1929 showed decided improvement over that of the preceding year. Out of eleven games played one was lost and one tied. The team held each opponent to a no-point score with the exception of Belleville, which was the only team that succeeded in crossing our goal.

The season opened at home with Walled Lake. Neither team was able to get within the twenty-five yard line and the game ended 0-0.

In the return game with Walled Lake, our team succeeded in breaking the tie and defeated them 6-0. This was one of our hardest games of the season.

The second home game was with Fowlerville. We succeeded in defeating this team in a hard game 6-0.

Byron and New Hudson proved to be easy victories for Brighton, the scores being 18-0 and 47-0, respectively. The return games with these teams showed Brighton's increase in ability. The scores were 19-0 and 61-0 respectively.

Keego Harbor also offered very little opposition. Brighton was again victorious in both games, score 13-0 and 57-0.

Brighton suffered its only defeat at the hands of Belleville. Belleville had the superior team and although our boys put up a good fight they were forced to accept a 19-6 defeat.

On Thanksgiving Day the annual Alumni game was played on a snow-covered field. The day was anything but satisfactory for a football game, but our boys succeeded in obtaining two touch downs. The game, again victorious for Brighton, ended 12-0.

The Senior Class takes a toll of five letter men, Frederick Seger, Bruce Herbst, Anthony Renne, Morris Rusling and Donald Schwartz. We trust that their vacancies will be adequately filled, however, their absence will be keenly felt.

BOYS' BASKET BALL

During the season 1929-'30, Brighton High School has enjoyed one of the most successful seasons of recent years. This was due in a large part to the efforts of Coach Zemke, for at the beginning of the season, although the team showed natural ability, they did not display the type of Basket Ball that was seen by the supporters of the team at the close of the season. Everyone of the players deserves special credit for the splendid work he did and the cooperative spirit displayed.

The boys played nine games, winning six and losing three. Only one game was lost on our own floor. Byron and Webberville proved too much for us. Byron defeated us both on their floor and ours, the scores being 32-12 and 34-14. Webberville defeated us 30-22.

After only a week's practice, our team invaded New Hudson's "gymnasium." This proved an easy game for our boys, who defeated New Hudson 23-12.

Three more victories followed, Pinckney 19-6; Hartland "there" 29-14 and "at home" 27-19.

A great deal of interest was shown at every home game, the "gym" being filled to capacity.

At the district tournament at Ypsilanti, Brighton was defeated by South Lyon 20-19. This game looked favorable for Brighton until South Lyon added the winning basket during the last ten seconds of the game.

GIRLS BASKET BALL

The girls all played a good brand of basket ball. They were not as fortunate in the outcome of the games as the boys, nevertheless they showed an unconquerable spirit.

Out of the six games played, five were lost and one was won. In spite of the continued defeat which the Brighton team suffered the spirit of "fight" was carried throughout every game. Every girl took defeat with an athletic spirit feeling that she would do better in the next game.

The team was entirely new with the exception of Helen Risch, but by continuous practice and personal effort, each new member worked up to the best standard she possibly could. Every one of the players deserves much credit for her spirit and splendid team work throughout each game.

The first game of the season was played with New Hudson when our team invaded their court. They seemed too much for us and succeeded in obtaining just four times more points, giving the Brighton team a defeat of 28-7.

A return game was played on the home court which proved a better game both in spirit and in team work. Basket making was again weak and our opponents returned home with 23 points as against our 4.

The next game found our team on Webberville's court where their efforts were in vain for they returned to Brighton with only three points. The Webberville girls seemed very decisive in their victory and after looping the basket for 43 points they called it a game.

Walled Lake was the next lucky team to be played, and playing on their home court displayed a fast and exciting game. More "spirit" was shown in this game than the others which was partly due to the fact that this was the only game that at any time our team was in the lead. The ultimate end of all of this was, Walled Lake 11, Brighton 6.

Still our opponents insisted on large scores, the Alumni included. Their victory made our fifth defeat, and the game was played at home. It was everything but a good game since Brighton found 18 after her name and the Alumni 44.

The final game brought a victory for the home team and of course, this game proved the most important of the season. Hartland gave us little opposition and made an easy victory for Brighton from the beginning, the score at the end of the first quarter was 16-0. Hartland showed some improvement and managed to slip in 8 points as against Brighton's 30.

The Senior girls, Dorothy Rutter and Evelyn Carter, who are leaving the team, leave many hopes that the team next year will be more successful than the one this year for the prospects of a winning team next year are bright.

Much credit is due Miss Scott, who coached the girls, for her thorough methods, encouragement, and genuine friendly interest in the girls. Mention should also be made of the greatly appreciated lunches which were served to both the home and visiting teams after the games. These were made possible by Miss Scott and her girls.

UPPER ROW—Dorothea Thompson, Marjorie Davis, Dorothy Roberts.

BASEBALL

Brighton resumed her baseball practice with seven men left from the team of the previous year. The publication of this annual is too early to give full details of the 1930 baseball season. The pitching staff will be covered by Hyne and Funsch while Schwartz will be doing the receiving.

Friday, May 2, our boys opened the season with Webberville on the home field. Brighton succeeded in getting thirteen men across the plate. Hyne held the opposition to one hit that being a bunt in the ninth inning which Smith of Webberville, succeeded in beating out. The day proved very successful for the home boys since they collected seventeen hits off Smith; Hyne registered seventeen strikeouts.

Pinckney came here the following week and Funsch let them down with four hits, Brighton winning 9-3.

Hartland, Brighton's old rival, came over on the 23rd of May. The day had been ideal for baseball, but about half an hour before game time the weather man put out the rain sign and the game never materialized. After sitting in cars for half an hour, praying for clear weather and not having our prayers answered, we said, "Game called," and went home.

We still have games with Pinckney, Hartland and Webberville and, no doubt, we will bring home the "bacon" on these occasions. Much credit for the success of the team is due to the able manner in which Coach Zemke has handled the boys.
