

BRIGHTONIAN

1962-'63

We have attempted to record on these pages all the events and happenings which have taken place this past year in Brighton High. We have tried to catch all the excitement and thrill of our precious experiences just as realistically as possible.

As you leaf through this year's annual, may you recapture the mood of all the wonderful moments which would other-wise be lost in time.

To keep all this alive, let's take a look at the diary of that wonderful and special school year of 1962-63

Brighton High School

Brighton, Michigan

Dear Diary,

Today summer vacation ended and school began. You know, the effect was somewhat like putting your fingers in your ears and suddenly pulling them out. The noise! And the crowds! Goodness, it was like stepping from a telephone in to Grand Central Station!

Do you realize, there are over 200 Freshmen this year? I was practically in a frenzy trying to push through the wriggling mass of humanity that surged through the halls.

In between the flurry of new classes and teachers we held rushed jam sessions at our lockers and managed to get acquainted with a few new additions to Brighton High. It sure was good to see all the kids together again.

Of course football talk was in the air and with the help of the cheerleaders we brought out the fight song and dusted it off.

Honestly, I don't know how we've managed to cram so much into these first few days . . .

"It all began with registration"

"Did you say crowded?"

"Pack those pads!"

"Sharp uniforms, huh?"

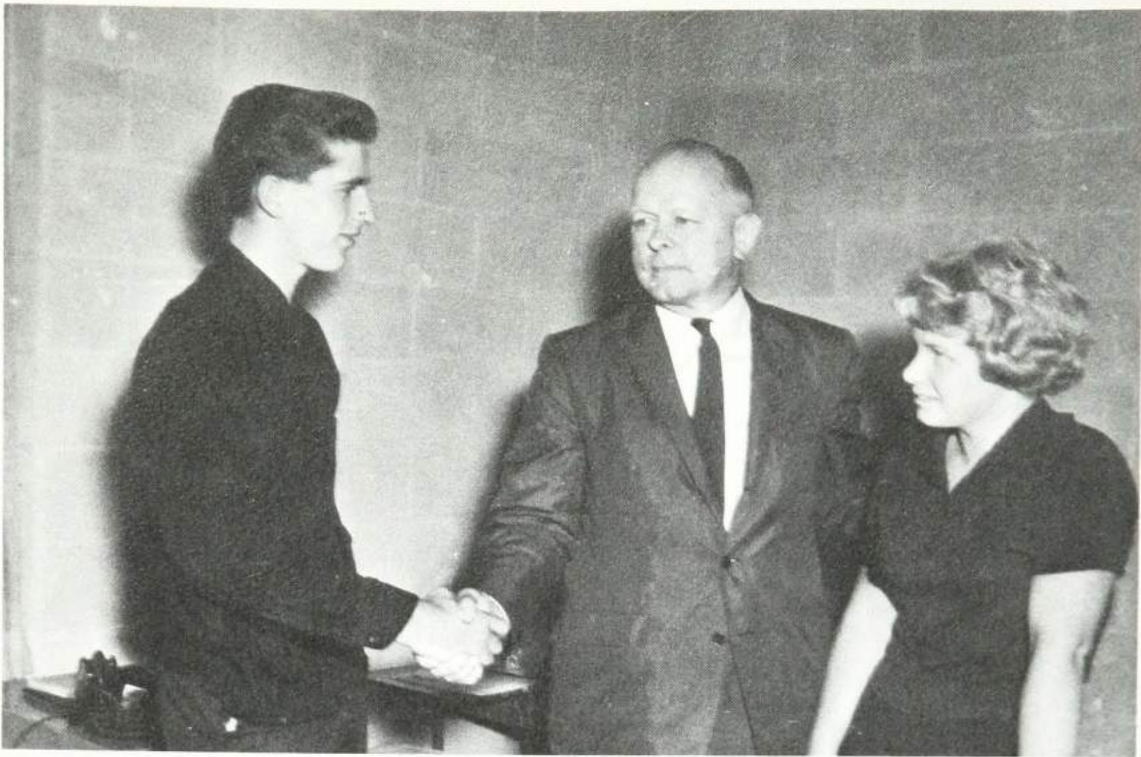

... at 12:10 it was the same old lunchroom with the same old line. "No cuts!"

The cheerleaders wound up the week with, "OK, you kids! Let's really hear it!"

The master minds which guide

Ordinarily, Mr. H. G. Hawkins, Superintendent of Schools, is not on hand to welcome new high school students. This year, however, there were two exceptions, Kaija Vartiainen from Finland and Henjo Hielkema from the Netherlands. Through the Youth for Understanding program Kaija and Henjo were able to come to Brighton for one year to participate in American High School Education and related activities.

The Security Council of the United Nations is a well-known body. Brighton High has its own Security Council, the School Board. Mr. Charles Powers, Mr. Don Warner, Mrs. Bernice Hyne, Dr. Harry Davis, Mr. Wayne Probst, Mr. Tom Leith, and Mr. Philip Dilavore have never been responsible for the well being of the nations, but they do a hand to hand job of administration with faculty and students to produce our smooth running world, Brighton Area School System.

the Brighton Area School System

9:40! and Mr. Fitzgerald is still writing excuses. The clock indicates the hectic pace of the principal's office where Mrs. Olah Bidwell lends a helping hand to Mr. Leo Fitzgerald. He has to keep a controlling touch over the 1000 and 1 things that keep a high school ticking.

Headman? Everything has one. Mr. Scranton is the one that keeps the Junior High in order. Like every boss he has a secretary. In Mr. Scranton's case it is Mrs. Luecker. The two of them, working with the teachers, efficiently prepare the Junior Hi-ers for their four years in 9 thru 12.

Good teachers expect good

Senior teachers pictured on these pages instruct the mighty Seniors. Among them are the old timers in Brighton High. The responsibility of seeing that the class of '63 is ready to go out on their own is placed on them. It is fortunate for the student body that it has such a fine group to prepare them for the future.

Mrs. Susan Brawner, the Senior English teacher, is a graduate of the University of Missouri. Because she was a new member of the faculty, the boys thought it was their duty to make her most welcome. Her soft drawl is a delight to her classes.

Mrs. Ikens (left) and Mrs. Wilson (seated) instruct the Seniors on the subject of U. S. Government. Mrs. Wilson has taught Government for many years, but Mrs. Ikens in her own words is a "greenhorn." Mr. Prieskorn (left) who teaches math as if he invented it, has the Senior "trig" class. Mr. Shutz (right), "Man about School" lectures on the many fields of physics.

things from their Seniors

Vocational Teachers:

These are the people who make the practical world go round. It's the Mrs. Levines and Mr. Stuarts who keep the typewriters and adding machines clicking; the Mr. Churches who keep the saws buzzing, and the Mrs. Arnolds, and Mrs. Hawkins who keep the tea kettles whistling on the stoves.

Fine Arts Teachers:

Brighton High students get some subjects which are considered "frills" in schools today. Mrs. Knight delights many with her artistic abilities and ideas, and Mr. Mallet and Mr. Klopshinske charm everyone with the music of their choir and band.

Give us a "B"---

"We love cheerleading!" -- That's the one thing the seven varsity cheerleaders agreed on. One of the main purposes of the squad was to promote school spirit. The students responded well to the new cheers, skits and pep assemblies. This was reward enough for the work put forth by the squad.

At the back: Brenda Hicks, Penny Leith. Sitting: Julie Smith, Carole Racquepaw, Mike Koteles, Susie Stellwagen, and Dianne Pearsall.

An outdoor pep rally really showed the student body what a "howling" success they could be. Their cheers could be heard all over town.

The JV cheerleading squad are pep personified. They are learning the yells and techniques ready for the day when the student body will make them tops.

Top: Linda Woodbridge, Cathy Cameron. Bottom: Sharon Canfield, Tietze Poppa, Linda Cooper and Linda Pelkey.

For our J.V.--Cha--Cha Cha Cha--Cha

Cheers helped build the ego of our future football squads. The J.V.'s of '62 were leading from the bottom, left to right: J. Bourlier, T. Warner, S. Rathburn, P. Holmes, D. McDowell, G. Foster, R. Norris, B. Osborn, B. Newman, J. Funch, D. Good, D. Wedyke, D. Elliot, J. Cook, C. Ritter, S. Kujawa, M. Kirchner, K. Luttermoser, C. Miller, C. Davidson, R. DeHate, A. Stewart, L. Flowers, M. Morgan, B. Cameron, L. Schaffer, P. Fauckner, D. Zimmerman, R. Barner, T. Santa and D. Bair.

Spectacular? Signs like this one are posted week after week. This one depicted all the different people associated with football games. The Bulldogs headed the "spectacular" procession followed by cheerleaders, majorettes, ice cream vendors and even a few dogs!!

Freshmen March In 178 Strong

As winter came everyone was conscious of one of the largest classes in the history of Brighton High School. 178 Freshmen had taken the plunge into a fascinating four year rat race. It was all terribly new at first, but soon they learned to love this rushing about just as the other three classes do. They'll always remember this first year, especially the first few weeks. There's nothing quite as shocking to a quiet system as the uproar and the bewilderment of the Freshmen. Confused and excited, they still started off with a bang. They readily formed committees and started planning their Freshmen Dessert, and a bake sale.

When they all get to be sophisticated Seniors, they'll look back to the time they were flustered little Freshmen and laugh and wonder how they ever managed to get through it.

Libraries and English go Hand in Hand

This year's librarians worked first with Mrs. Hasel Snider, and later with Mrs. Emily Ingle. The librarians are: Seated around Frank London, Cheryl Rawski, Kathy Gallagher, and Barbara Housner. In the second row: Linda Tuthill, Nancy Rawski, Linda Klima, Sally Gilbert, Carol Warner, Alyson Arnold, Hazel Stockard. And at the top: Pat Gilbert, Patty Miller, and Beverly Eggert.

Mrs. Pat Taylor, veteran teacher of five years, points out some of the pros and cons of English teaching to Mrs. Joanne Close and Mrs. Sue King new teachers at Brighton and in the profession.

Faculty Reflects All Moods and Attitude

JOY is reflected on the faces of Mrs. Betsy Herbst and Mr. Edward Smith as they observe one of those phenomena in science which only a microscope can show you.

SINCERITY is the word for Mrs. Rhea Monroe and Miss Janet Bates as they approach the solution of a math problem.

SURPRISE is registered by Coach Vincent Zappone and gym instructor Elizabeth Dickinson as they're caught in this candid shot.

PRIDE describes Mrs. Rosemary Twomey as she discourses on the subject of history with Mr. John Engle.

Our Vocal Depart- ment

The Brighton High School Choir is headed by Mr. Gordon Mallett. The choir gives concerts, participates in All League, attends a festival and this year, is putting on the production, H.M.S. Pinafore.

"The gals with the silver voices." The Girls' Glee Club numbers among its loyal members Nancy Prieskorn, Carol Wall, Audrey Matthews, Darlene Wegrzyn, Kathy Wegrzyn, Linda Klima, Linda Miller, Pam Caruse, Linda Miller, Jane Demorest, Judy Warner, Susan Stine, and Carol Warner.

These vocal wizards, the choir officers and section leaders, aid Mr. Mallett with this choir.

Mr. Mallett talks shop with his five accompanists Ruth Hurst, Audrey Matthews, Julie Smith, Keith Drayton, and Phil Stine.

Senior Play Wow's Crowd

Penny Leith and John Park, portraying the two eldest children of Sam Gilbreth, turn their minds to the days of their childhood to introduce the Senior Play "Cheaper by the Dozen".

The seniors incorporated something new into their play this year, a double cast. These seniors portrayed the Gilbreth family for the first night's performance.

"Ah ha", Rodger Orndorf exclaims as the aggravating brother of Joanne Hite and Linda Dodge who were double cast as one of the daughters. Dave Parmenter, who played a high school suitor, placed most of his interest in Linda and Joanne.

Pat Dougherty and Chris Klages, as Mom and Pop, hold the center of the stage as they give instructions to the housekeeper Maggie Anderson.

Student Council--Junior Administration

The Student Council officers, Joyce Gibson-Trea., John Park-Pres., Susie Stellwagon-Vice-Pres., and Jacque Carney-Sec., enjoy a good joke with Mr. Schutz, their advisor.

Throughout the year, the Council presents assemblies encourages appropriate dress, sells ads for the annual, arouses school spirit, helps with clean-ups and locker inspection - - the little jobs all Add Up! The biggest project is Homecoming.

This - is the entire Council - Susan Stine, Lou Sheffer, Don Rockwell, Rich Orndorf, Kathy Wegrzyn, Brenda Hicks, Buzz Davison, Bob Cameron, Mike Stellwagon, Phil Albert, Greg Parks, and John Kopp, along with Mr. Schutz and the officers.

Sponsored by the Rotary Club of Brighton, Career Night provided a chance for students in the surrounding area to talk with persons established in specific fields.

The Student Council helped the Rotarian's during Career Night.

Homecoming--Night Supreme

Penny and Susie! Pretty huh? So pretty and popular that the students of B.H.S. couldn't decide between them. Penny Leith and Susie Stellwagon were elected co-queens. This was last minute preparation. The only thing that hadn't been gone over three or four times was Susie's necklace. Penny made sure it was fastened securely. When all was perfect, they joined. . .

their court which was made up of Diane Dejohn, Freshman; Terry Lou Grostick, Sophomore; Ruth Hurst, Junior; and Sherri Damon, Senior, as eye catching a four as you'll find in any high school. Ready for the big night they were escorted to their convertibles and out around the football field.

Gala Evening Provides

The anticipated moment of coronation was only a few seconds away. On the arms of their escorts, John Park and Mac Pear-sall, they crossed the field down the aisle formed by the band - - those endless few steps which would make them queens.

Sophomore—

Of course, Brighton High has its Sophomores. We couldn't do without them; they're the brains of the school. Sophomores "know everything about everything." It's the natural thing. Everyone goes through that phase after they've finished that first confusing year. And they are bright! In their Freshmen year they discovered a lot of do's and don'ts; they had many experiences from which they learned. They have much to be proud of. As Freshmen they were the largest class in the history of the school; the first to have what they called a Freshmen Dessert; and they held one of the most successful dances of the year bringing in $50. As they put it, "We can really get a lot done if we really try." They're all full of ideas, but who isn't? They had a bake sale and came up with something new—a clash day, on which everyone would wear unmatched clothing, but Mr. Fitzgerald said, "Nay." All he wanted was an harmonious day! Smart! Huh? Well, that's a Sophomore for you. We kid them, but we admire them! Careful! Everyone gets a turn being a Sophomore.

Dear Diary:

Cold weather is upon us br-r-r-!
The two days off at Thanksgiving were sure a break after the three months and two marking periods of the thing teachers call "dedicated study."

There's talk of Christmas in the air, of a big Holiday dance which the Seniors will sponsor. Who isn't dreaming of that nice long vacation, even though the shadow of semester exams creeps in upon us.

Balls are bouncing in the gym! Boyfriends are so busy talking about plays that girlfriends have to plan "special plays" to hold their own.

J.V. Basketball Builds Tomorrow's Stars

The future stars of the Varsity team are now gaining experience by playing basketball on the J. V. squad. Coach Zapone works with Larry Flowers, Doug Zimmerman, Cliff Ritter, Jim Dunham, Bruce Evenson, Hank Gallup, Kenny Cook, Terry Stocers, manager George Khramn, Richard Musch, Rick Leitz, Louie Sheffer, Jim Suminski, Don Herbst, and Mark Hierlihy.

Zapone of football fame, teaches those all important techniques, from holding the ball to making that basket that will clinch the game.

"Yea team! Sink it, Varsity!"

Coach Kucher and student manager Ralph Norris keep the varsity squad in shape. The boys that are responsible for the scores are Bob Evenson, Louis Williams, Dan Barker, Rodger Lane, Ed Case, David Herbst, student manager Ralph Norris, Mike Stellwagon, Al Verellen, Dennis Hartman, Bill Benear, and Jim Voltz.

Athletic director, Scranton, listens as Mr. Kucher briefs the Seniors on the team for the last plays of their high school lives.

Relaxed did you say? Soon it will be changed to a scene of wild activity, screams, and cheers.

Mr. Karl Klopshinske, director of the band, and Drum Major Chuck Houghton confer on a band matter. To plan marching formations, dance steps, etc. is a big challenge.

'63 was the year for bright new uniforms.

The band officers Don Rockwell, Jenni Dunkleberger, Paul Hines, Chuck Madden, George Bufford, Jacque Carney, and popular Mr. K. kept the band functioning well throughout the year.

Inspires Students and Community

The "loud" Pep Band held the crowds spell-bound with their choice of music at home basketball games. Students at assemblies were aroused by their classy renditions.

Juniors Have Quality Not Quantity

Chuck Haughton
President

"Quality, not quantity," that's the Junior's slogan. Although they're the smallest class, with 102 members, they have the most students on the honor roll and also the best attendance record. Armed with their class colors—blue and white, class flower—blue and white carnation, and the class motto—"The Door to Success is Labled Push," they've marched through three years of studies and activities such as dances, bake sales, and banquets.

It's rumored around school that although the Juniors seem to be progressing well toward their Senior year, there's one thing they've had bad luck with, and that's their dances. Any loyal Junior will set you straight, though. You'll be informed that their all-out effort was saved for the J-Hop!

Elaine Baprowski in an authentic Polish costume with beaded and embroidered bodice got much attention at the dinner.

Can this be Brighton? Yes it's Vicki Williams, Dolly Burgett, Pat Couch, Bertha Schneider, Janet Warner, Kaya Vartianen, and Jean Shomin wearing costumes from many lands for the F.H.A. International Dinner which they sponsor annually.

7th Graders Keep Up the Tempo--

Seventh graders listen alertly to their teacher as he explains the human brain to them, and who would know more about it than Mr. Kuohler. Students are: Francine Barber, Dan Barney, Dave Barton, Tom Chenoweth, Karen Clore, Randy Cox, Phyllis Crane, Joan Davidson, Christine Falk, Connie Fick, Jim Filice, Arthur Frost, Diana Good, Walter Gyr, Chene Harbron, Terry Henson, Wendy Hodge, Jim Kellams, Judy Kline, Gail Kraft, Patty Laning, Sally Leith, Karl Leitzau, Marjorie London, Ray Luttermoser, Janet Moore, Randy Needham, Carol Nichols, Diane Pruett, Marsha Rawski, Gary Roe, Donna Santa, Susan Spencer, Terry Tuthill, and Linda Venno.

All eyes are on Mr. Brock as he explains transitive active verbs. Interesting, huh, class? Students are: Jack Abner, Linda Beasley, Nancy Carlson, Tony Fletcher, Charles Foster, Darrell Furister, Terry Gilbert, Jack Goodall, Dan Grueber, Bob Guthrie, Patty Hazelman, Susan Hittlebaugh, Virginia Hubbs, Bonnie Hunter, Jimmy Kirby, Dennis Lytton, Carl Masak, Larry Miller, John Murphy, Benny Perry, Richard Pomroy, Dennis Robbins, Bonnie Jean Ruddock, Mary Jo Sak, James Shaw, Caren Smail, William Smith, Richard Stone, Joyce Turner, Russ Villerat, Ed Walls, Ronald Weaver, and Sandy Wright.

What's that? " " " How Come? " " " Why? " "

Mr. Ehnis comes up with a question that ten 7th graders find easy to answer. The students are: Linda Brace, Ron Carlington, Don Carney, Nancy Danforth, Alex Davis, John Hardesty, Beverly Henry, Dan Holly, Craig Kirchner, Michele Langkil, Cindy Loveland, Bob Mckenny, Peggy Merkle, Claudia Mintor, Cathy Morris, Sharon Murphy, Tom Nalley, Leroy Pierce, Paul Sawallich, Dawn Schoeppy, Sharon Seigle, Cynthia Sell, Elmer Shelley, Troy Smail, Michele Squires, Phillip Taylor, Jim Thompson, Mike Todd, Luch Visel, Carol Walker, Virginia Waters, and Margaret Zimmerman.

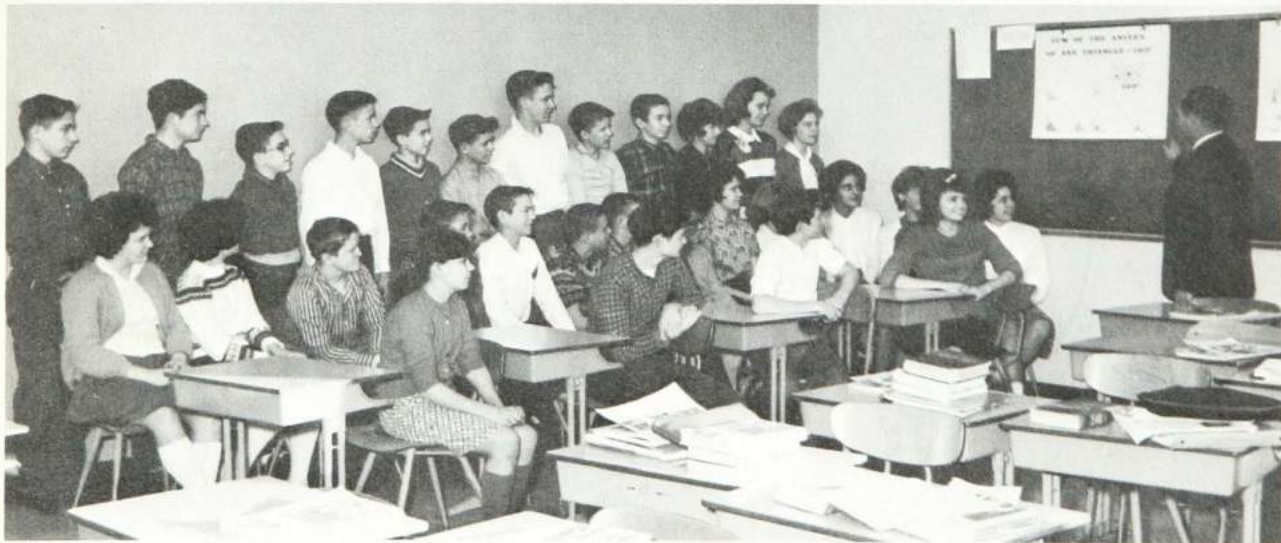

Mr. Doan brings Europe into room 112, and there's hardly room for all of 7 A's as it is! The students are: Pam Adams, Bonnie Anderson, Jane Birklebaw, Brant Blasier, Susan Boyd, Keith Bufford, Chester Cramer, Dan Cuthbert, Butch Duty, Con Ferich, Linda Fisher, Pat Flagerty, Tom Gibson, Norman Green, Jean Herbst, Kathy Herbst, Sue Hood, Nancy Kimble, Keith King, Mike King, Patty Larkin, Kathy Lueker, Cindy Lee Madden, Cindy Mitchell, Dennis Naus, David Newman, Mike O'Dell, Jack Padley, Kristine Paredes, John Perry, Larry Rockwell, Doreen Scott, and Sally Tuthill.

Junior--Hi is a Lively Place

Mrs. Kennedy sells her 8th graders on Mexico and its language. (Exciting beyond measure, is Spanish.) The students are: Pam Bair, Lonna Bakhaus, Gwen Bell, Connie Dietrick, Patty Fisher, Linda Fritsch, Carol Gallup, Sandy Gustafson, Denise Hargesheimer, Carolyn Hoard, Paul Keckonen, Bob Kelley, Bob Koteles, Sue Lawrence, Larry Lemorie, Debbie Lentovich, Jim Matthews, Alan Merkle, Dennis Oliver, Deborah Padley, Larry Ponka, Sharon Prieskorn, Helen Ranzenburger, Susan Raquepaw, Connie Reed, Dennis Scott, Melanie Skeman, Billy Slagle, Darla Wolf, and June Wolfman.

No Dull Moments in 8th Grade

Mr. Arnold gathers his 8th graders together for a few of his typical jokes. All set for the punch line, class? The students are: David Addington, Anne Armstrong, Lonnie Atwood, Tony Bair, Jerry Beebe, Donna Bitten, Frances Caldwell, Kirk Davis, Don Eickhoff, Judy Flaherty, Hank Gordon, David Grob, Rick Hite, Kaye Hood, Cathy Housner, Eric Hurst, Richard Hyne, Marcia Jacoby, Don Johnson, Nancy Kellams, Ray Leming, Mike Lueker, Helen Maher, Andy Marvin, Linda Mitchell, Sue Moore, Celia Peach, Patty Seger, and Sharon Stine.

Mrs. Bishop questions her home room group in her usual gracious manner - - "Teacher, I know". The students are: Faith Arquette, Oscar Byard, Tom Cawoen, Brian Cook, Diane Crosby, Walter Dabritt, David Fish, Dolores Forsyth, Wanda Forsyth, Don Glenn, Nancy Gunnels, Arnold Hammons, Betty Hartman, William Hatley, Henry London, Steve Love, Terry Moore, James Morgan, James Muller, Roger Pugh, Richard Ritter, Jean Sachs, Frank Servilla, Irmgard Schroeder, Harold Sharp, Nancy St. Aubin, Jerry Stone, Dennis Vesper, Joey Walls, Russel Webster, Linda Williams, and Kathy Wissner.

Want Music? Jr. High has it.

Mr. Klopshinski (band director) isn't suggesting a song fest—he's holding a council with the Jr. High Band Officers Kaye Hood, Sharon Stine, Richard Hyne, Mike Lueker, and Bob Johnson.

The Junior High School Band poses for a formal shot. The band includes 63 seventh and eighth graders.

The Junior High School Choir is an after school activity organized by Mr. Mallett. The group this year aided the Senior Choir for carol singing at the Christmas Concert. They meet regularly every week for practice.

Cheer Leaders of Tomorrow

Posed here are the Eighth grade cheerleaders. Connie Reed, Helen Ranzenberger, Gwen Bell, Sue Moore, Kaye Hood, Cathy Housner.

No, its not an optical illusion. Before you are the many 7th grade cheerleaders. The 7th graders just couldn't contain their enthusiasm for their winning team in one, regular sized squad! The girls are: Claudia Minton, Kathy Lueker, Patty Lanning, Cristy Falk, Sue Hood, second row: Sue Spencer, Linda Veno, Sally Lieth, Patty Larkin, Nancy Kimball, and Cindy Madden.

"Deadline's Noon Today"

On the other side of the room, we see standing headdown, Diana Durbin, then Kathy Gallagher, Brenda Hicks, Gloria Furister, Hazel Stockard, and Kay Dickerson. Jeannette Henson, Harriet Burton, Jackie Rathburn, Susan Kourt and Ricci Jacobs.

In the midst of this pile of newspapers, Diana Durbin and Kathy Gallagher are completing an assignment for the next day.

As the week draws to a close, a typical staff prepares to type the polished stories. The typist is Harriet Burton; Susan Kourt stands with Editor, Lee Niles, observing the progress. Kathy Gallagher, Chris Smith and Bill Ferich await to have their stories typed.

"I Need a Word! Think fast!"

Rog Orndorf - ass't photographer, Bev Decker, Joyce Beilby, Ruth Hurst, Jacque Carney, with Dave Herbst peeping over their heads, watch Editor, Pat Dougherty, sitting at her desk. On the other side Bobby Shekell, Diana Durbin with Maggie Anderson and Penny Leith are the other feminine staff members. Photographer, Ben Morris, makes the threat at Lee Miles; Keith Drayton and Bill Ferich complete the group responsible for the years annual.

Says Mrs. Ikens, sponsor, to Pat Dougherty, editor, "Sure we'll leave the Annual Staff out, and save five pages."

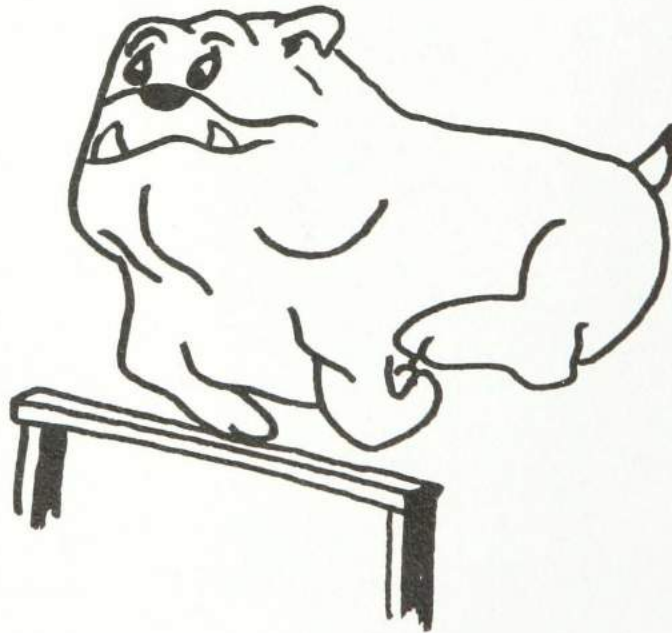

"Congratulations, Lucy!" said Keith Drayton as Lucy Ann Kroc-zak, Sophomore, purchased the first annual. Pat Gilbert and Jim Dunham eagerly awaited their turn to order books.

Dear Diary,

The pace is becoming hectic. Everyone is conscious of how much is being crammed into these few remaining weeks of school. Operetta, Junior play, forensics, banquets, spring sports, concerts, senior trip, and graduation are all crowding in for their share of time and attention. There's no chance to give into the impulse of letting spring fever take over.

Stage Productions Win Applause

Jim Bidwell bids for attention of teacher Dennis Hartman in the one room rural school in the Kentucky mountains—setting for the Junior Play—"The Thread That Runs So True." The hillbillies sandwiched rehearsals between Pinafore, forensic practices and Annual dead lines. The cast, crews and committees produced a most successful play under Rosemary Twomey's direction.

The B.H.S. choir in colorful costumes with outstanding decorative scenery presented a sensational first with the performance of H.M.S. Pinafore. Here after a grueling practice, the boys chorus get needed help from Mr. Gordon Mallett, director and Mr. Gershon Morningstar, President of the Gilbert and Sullivan Society in Ann Arbor.

Shirley Glenn, Caroline Scott, Jan Hill, Elaine Woodworth, Joan Herbst, Carol Hidlebaugh, Lorraine Dinkhaus, Beverly Eggert and Sharon Boyd have already begun their careers by working at McPherson Health Center.

Debate & Forensics Make Public Speakers

Debaters: Chuck Haughton, Jim Bidwell, Cris Klages, John Par, Tom Duffy, Diana Durbin, Jacque Carney, Dorothy Fick, and Joyce Gibson

with Coach Twomey broke up into teams for competition in the league. Cris Klages offers an alternate plan in the Common Market question to colleagues Durbin and Gibson.

Mrs. Dickinson and the G.A.A. officers, Susan Kourt, Darlene Wegrzyn, Joyce Gibson, and Linda Herbst, head the energetic tomboys in basketball, volleyball, baseball, and bowling. These scenes are typical of the moments that make these girls proficient in these sports.

Always, Spring Sports!

Jim Cook, Dale Borst, Chris Klages, John Park, Dick Demorest, and Coach George Prieskorn. Standing: Dave Kimble, Bob Witting, George Scott, and Mike Arnold answered the first call for golf this spring.

Before snow as off the ground these track enthusiasts from '62 were again out for the squad. Phil Stine, Chuck French, Don Kearns, and Gary Cuthbert were standing. Seated were Red Osborne, Mike Wisser, Danny Barker, Bill Davison, and Mike Fournier. Buzz Davison and Lee Niles were missing from the picture.

They Keep Things Humming

These drivers kept the mighty fleet of buses rolling through the coldest winter in 45 years, as well as the warmer months. Assembled here in the seats usually occupied by students are:

Rex Beach, Harley Morrow, Glenn Eastman, Elaine Black, Osa Maher, Art Spicer, Earl Crawford, Stanley Lalewicz, Ken Burrison, Bob Cash, Dick Dunning, and George Bennet.

No student will forget the fragrant aroma which often drifted up through the halls from the cafeteria. "Hot cinnamon rolls, yum yum." Dorothy Ewald, Evelyn Crowe, and Elsie Morrow are the ones responsible for that appetite teasing. Mrs. Violet Luttermoser replaced Mrs. Ewald 2nd semester.

Every school has paper wads, broken pencils, and scrap-pages which escape their owners and must be corraled. To keep our building shining is the responsibility of Mr. Frank O'Dwyer and his helpers Mrs. Olga Carlock, Mrs. Helen Eastman, and Mr. Glenn Eastman.

Dear Diary,

For the seniors, a six day whirl in Washington and New York brought these past four years of high school madness to a wild and wonderful finish.

Our Senior class, the largest so far, was an active one. They worked hard and sponsored their share of school activities.

As Freshmen they began by choosing green and white for their class colors and the white carnation for their flower. Susie Stellwagon served as President and Bobby Hicks as Homecoming Attendant.

When Sophomores, with Ed Case as President, they abandoned the typical meek reserve of Freshmen and began to take part in their school. Susie Stellwagon was their representative in the Queen's Court.

The next year found them busy with their J-Hop, "Moments To Remember". Phil Albert was elected President and Diane Pearsall was Homecoming Attendant.

In their fourth year, Danny Barker was class President. The Seniors became responsible for a "first" in Brighton.

The student body couldn't decide between Susie Stellwagon and Penny Leith for Homecoming Queen, and as a result, the Seniors were fortunate to have co-queens in their class. Sherri Damon was the Senior member of the court.

Graduation was met with mixed emotions. Four years of hard work and good times were behind the Seniors, and in front of them lay a future in the adult world.

Busy Students Make For Happy Principals.

Study hall—Recognize it? Work, Play, Gab or just relax!!!

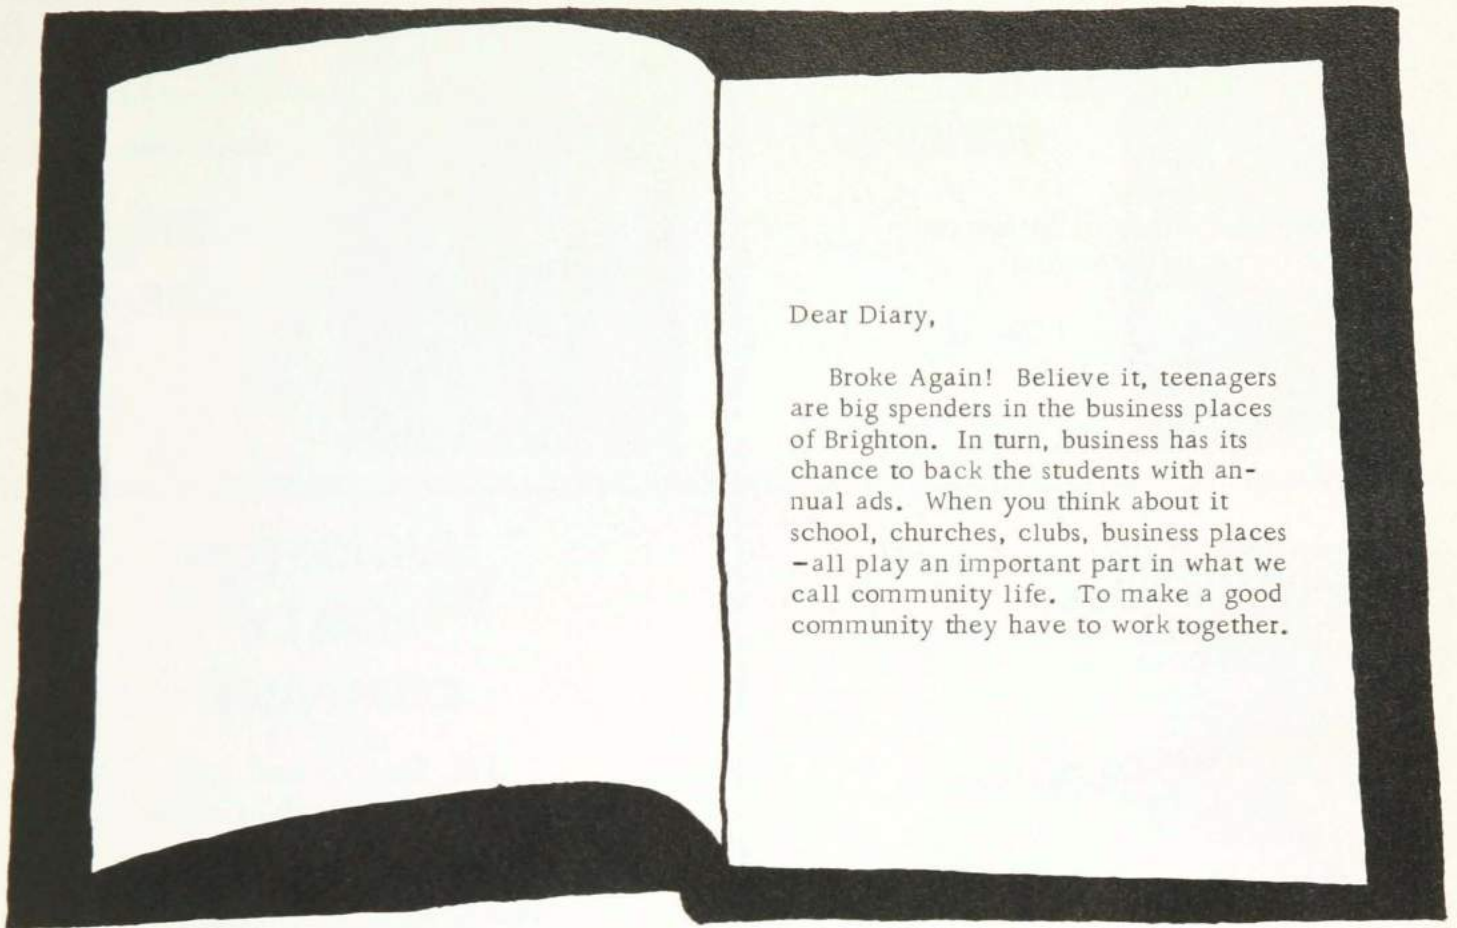

In 1962-63 skirts went up—hair went poof—and tails hung out—Student Council also worried about the lockers where every hour on the hour students were yelling, "Where are my books—the bell just rang."

From the day a Freshman crosses the threshold of old B.H.S. till that final moment when he receives his diploma and becomes an alumnus—he builds the memories that will make B.H.S. live for him through the years.

Dear Diary,

Broke Again! Believe it, teenagers are big spenders in the business places of Brighton. In turn, business has its chance to back the students with annual ads. When you think about it school, churches, clubs, business places -all play an important part in what we call community life. To make a good community they have to work together.

Dear Diary,

School's out! Those 180 days of the 1962-63 school year are behind us and the long, lazy summer stretches ahead. For some, it is a rest and a break in the 4 year high school routine. For Seniors, it is an end to what is so often spoken of as "the happiest years of your life."

Captured here in your pages, Dear Diary, are the events and activities which have made this year something special for all who have been a part of it.
